Tax Relief

Helping you to secure maximum value from R&D tax credits

If you are:

- Paying corporation tax
- Improving or developing products or processes
- Market leading
- Employing staff with a high degree of expertise

Then we could help you to save a lot of tax.

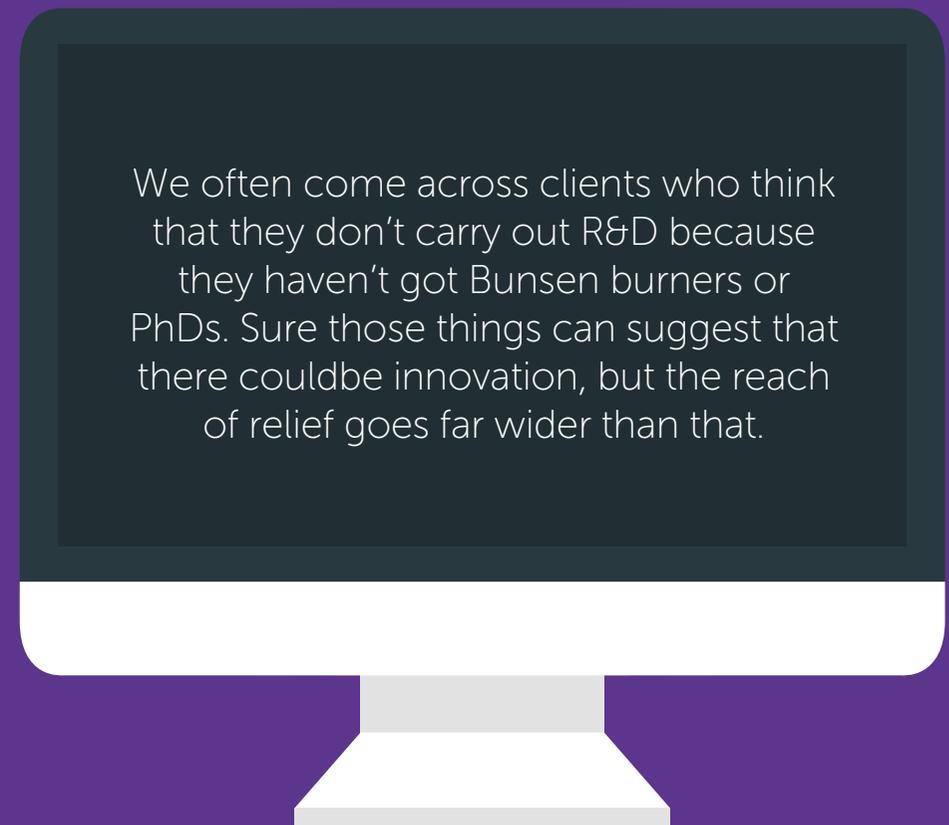

We work with you to get the best result

We have the expertise to deliver high quality and robust claims for our clients, having secured successful retrospective claims and also recently obtained advance approval of R & D claims under the HMRC new initiative.

We will provide a no obligation consultation to assess the potential tax savings that you could be entitled to and will only charge a fee when a tax relief claim is successful.

Combining relevant industry experience with expert knowledge of the legislation, we can help identify the eligibility of activities within your company and translate this information into comprehensive reports, which form the basis of successful R & D tax credit claims.

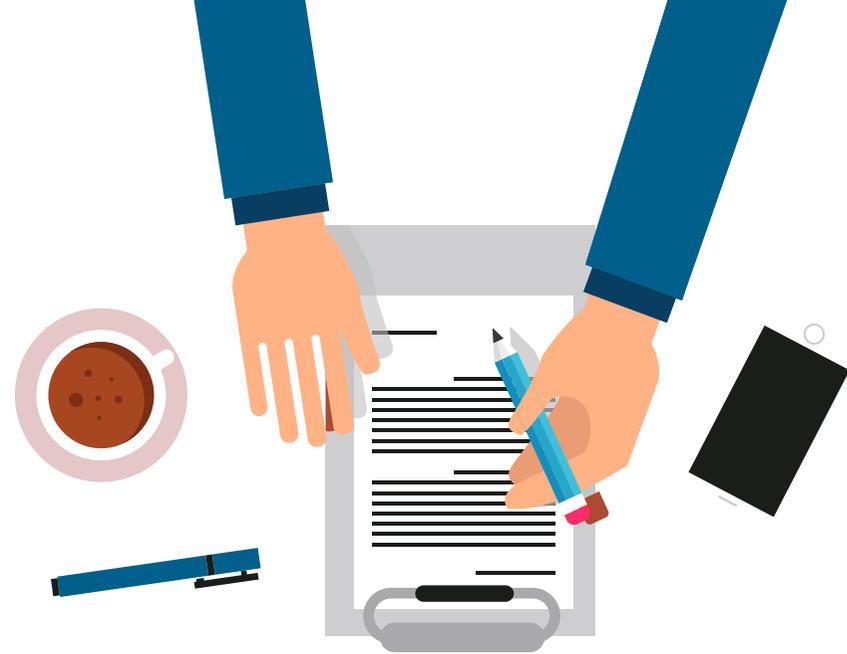

85% of potential claims are not being made - Why aren't companies claiming?

You'd think that most companies would be claiming all the R&D tax credits they're entitled to but the majority don't...with an estimated £1 billion of R&D tax relief going unclaimed every year.

The tricky part is understanding the legislation, which is why many companies simply don't realise that they qualify. This is where we come in ...

As leading specialists we have consistently been able to find eligibility in companies that have struggled to understand the complex legislation.

Sit back and relax - we will do the hard work for you.

Here are some of the industries where R&D claims have been made

- Manufacturing
- Information & Communication
- Professional, Scientific & Technical
- Wholesale & Retail Trade, Repairs
- Admin & Support Services
- Construction
- Financial & Insurance
- Health & Social Work

TESTIMONIAL

'Hull Kingston Rovers is not only one of the oldest professional Rugby League clubs, it is a globally recognised brand having won many trophies and famous victories in its 140 year history.

We have invested heavily in training, performance and innovative sports science recently to try and get the most out of our players and coaching staff and when our club accountants 360 suggested we should make a Research and Development claim to HMRC we were only too pleased.

The six figure sum they secured for us recently was a real god send as it came at the start of the Covid-19 crisis when our income had dried up. The process was slick and relatively pain less and I'd encourage all innovative SMEs partaking in research and development to engage with Andy and his team to see whether they qualify for the tax credits available.'
